

 screenshot of game here maybe? Adding Placeholder screenshot

You are tiger walking through your native land when disaster strikes. You see a trap on the ground and realize you are being hunted by the most vile, invasive species of all- Humans.

Fight your way through gunfire and traps to make your way back to your territory; but be sure to not get hit! The jungle is an unforgiving place even as an apex predator, and members of your family can be killed along the way.

-- Meat, eat for powerup!

-- Hunter, avoid these!

 Change these for in game pictures maybe? Can change for whatever or add

Starting the Game

Load the game.prg file into your vic-20 emulator; from here you can type commands such as LIST, or type RUN to start the game! You will be greeted by a title screen- press space whenever you are ready to begin your survival hunt!

Objective

Survival hunt is a continuous vertical-scrolling game in which you have to avoid pits and hunter's bullets in order to reach your final destination- home! Press A and D on your keyboard to move left and right, walk over powerups to gain temporary bonuses, and keep your eye out for paths through the trees (these take you to different stages).

The longer you survive the higher your score, so make sure you are in it for the long haul.